

~PROCLAMATION~

WHEREAS, members of a community have the opportunity to effect positive change through volunteer action; and

WHEREAS, volunteers can share their skills by connecting with hundreds of local community service organizations; and

WHEREAS, nationally, more than 100 million volunteers help meet needs in their communities by donating time and talents supporting health and human services, education, economic development, environmental protection, public safety and disaster preparedness; and

WHEREAS, Clark County recognizes the vital role volunteers play in carrying out service delivery to our citizens.

NOW, THEREFORE, we, the Board of County Councilors, do hereby proclaim April 12-18, 2015 as in Clark County, Washington. In so doing, we wish to extend our appreciation to all volunteers serving our community and encourage others to volunteer in their communities, for by volunteering, we become more compassionate and engaged citizens.

~National Volunteer Week~

Signed this 14th day of April 2015

BOARD OF COUNTY COUNCILORS
CLARK COUNTY, WASHINGTON
